our families!! On behalf of Tresco's board of directors, leadership and staff a HUGE thank you for everyone's generous gift to our TOTS Early Intervention and Day One Home Visiting programs. DAY ONE TEAM BUILDING BRAIN DEVELOPMENT

The early years of a child's life are crucial for brain development. During this period, the brain undergoes rapid growth and is highly responsive to environmental stimuli. The experiences and interactions children have with their caregivers lay the groundwork for their cognitive, emotional, and social development.

Understanding brain architecture is foundational to the work our Day One Home Visiting program, as it directly influences our team members approach to supporting children and families.

Our Day One Home Visiting program hosted Laura Shattuck, Training & Development Consultant for the Early Childhood Learning Network at University of New Mexico, to lead an in depth training for our staff. The training included discussions of the stages of brain development for Prenatal, Infancy, and Childhood. At the end of the discussion the staff split up into groups for a "Brain Activity" where they had to build a structure representing the brain using straws and pipe cleaners to build our brain up and then there was a deck of cards with scenarios that would give a good outcome, a tolerable stressor or a toxic stressor. With each stressor added a small weight to our brain structure until one brain structure finally fell down. One child's brain structure was strong the other teams was not.

TRESCO STAFF ACHIEVE CIMS CERTIFICATION EXPERT STATUS: A MILESTONE IN PROFESSIONAL EXCELLENCE

In today's competitive business environment, professional certifications play a crucial role in distinguishing organizations. Recently, Eddie Crespin, Tresco Assistant Director of Business Development, reached a significant milestone by completing the CIMS (Cleaning Industry Management Standard) Certification Expert (C.C.E.) program. This achievement showcases our commitment to excellence and the desire to uphold the highest standards within the cleaning and facility management industry.

In the Fall of 2022 Tresco achieved CIMS Certification, administered by ISSA, the Worldwide Cleaning Industry Association, which is a comprehensive standard designed to assist cleaning organizations, like Tresco Works, in developing and maintaining high-quality management and operational systems. CIMS certification requires us to demonstrate competence in five key areas: Quality Systems, Services Delivery, Human Resources, Health, Safety and Environmental Stewardship and Management Commitment.

The journey to becoming a CIMS Certification Expert is rigorous and requires a deep understanding of the five core areas of CIMS. It involves comprehensive trainings, thorough examination and a commitment to ongoing professional development. By earning the CIMS Certification Expert designation, enhances Tresco's credibility, improves operational efficiency, promotes professional development and strengthens competitive advantage. "Completing the CIMS Certification Expert program was a challenging but rewarding experience. It has equipped me with the tools to elevate Tresco's services quality and ensure that we are consistently meeting our clients' expectations," says Eddie Crespin.

When you see Eddie make sure to tell him congrats on this achievement! Tresco is making positive strides in reaching additional success and innovation throughout New Mexico.

It is our pleasure to introduce Michael Howard and welcome him to the Tresco Board of Directors
